STATEMENT (continued)

Plaintiff alleges that two Chicago police officers used excessive force against him during an arrest on September 23, 2007.

The United States marshals service is appointed to serve defendants, Officer Melondez and Officer Corona, both of the Bridgeport police department. The court directs the marshal to send the necessary USM-285 forms to plaintiff so that he may provide the information necessary for the marshal to serve defendants with process. The marshal is authorized to mail a request for waiver of service to defendants in the manner prescribed by Fed.R.Civ.P. 4(d)(2) before attempting personal service on defendants.

The plaintiff is instructed to file all future papers concerning this action with the clerk of court in care of the Prisoner Correspondent. The plaintiff must provide the original plus a judge's copy of every document filed. In addition, the plaintiff must send an exact copy of any court filing to the defendants [or to defense counsel, once an attorney has entered an appearance on their behalf]. Every document filed must include a certificate of service stating to whom exact copies were mailed and the date of mailing. Any paper that is sent directly to the judge or that otherwise fails to comply with these instructions may be disregarded by the court or returned to the plaintiff.

Plaintiff's motion for appointment of counsel is denied without prejudice. In exercising this discretion, a court considers several factors in deciding whether or not to appoint: the merit of the indigent Plaintiff's claims; the Plaintiff's ability to investigate crucial facts; whether the nature of the evidence indicates that the truth will more likely be exposed if both sides are represented by counsel; the capability of the indigent litigant to present the case; the complexity of the legal issue raised. Swofford v. Maxwell, 969 F. 2d 547, 551 (7th Cir. 1992). In addition, the court should consider plaintiff's ability to litigate his claim. Pruitt v. Mote, 503 F. 3d 647 (7th Cir. 2007).

Plaintiff's complaint demonstrates his competence at this time to present his claims adequately. Accordingly, the motion for appointment of counsel is denied without prejudice.
